P R E F A C E

In times like these . . . with the fate of nations hanging in the balance . . . much depends upon the rising generation and its training in the problems of the present day world. In this book we have tried to show how and to what extent our school life influences our attitudes toward these problems and prepares us . . . mentally, physically, and socially . . . to meet the crises . . . face to face . . . and to do our parts in surmounting them.

DEDICATION

If a school is to train a generation to face the world and not be discouraged, the school itself must possess certain high ideals and principles . . . that make it the very embodiment of what it is trying to teach. We believe that our school is not lacking in these . . . and so . . . to these principles and ideals . . . which are our school . . . we . . . the senior class of Valparaiso High School . . . dedicate this 1938 Valenian.

- I. Human Relationship
- II. Mental Growth
- III. Varied Endeavors
- IV. Physical Vigor

How does the school prepare us for facing these problems? By cultivating in us desirable traits based on these four main divisions; human relationship, mental growth, physical vigor, and varied endeavors.

In learning to deal with other people, we have the relationship between teacher and pupil and between pupil and pupil. Surely this is necessary in order to develop traits of character such as honesty, reliability, and co-operation. Our studies teach us to think straight and to use our minds to the best advantage, as well as providing the necessary amount of culture and knowledge and opening up vast fields of wisdom and lore. Then, because a well-developed mind would be futile without a strong body to house it, we are given courses in physical education and furnished with sports. Besides promoting health and providing fun, these encourage good sportsmanship, courage, and skill. Also, there is our social life, which, in addition to offering profitable recreation, gives us a background for our social success, teaching us to get the most from our contacts with others. So, by these same four applications, our lives are shaped, our characters molded, and we are prepared to meet the world.

JAMES McKAY
Secretary

IRA C. TILTON
Treasurer

These three men, a minister, a business man, and a lawyer, make up our school board. It is due to their efforts for several years that our school is so well equipped with teachers and facilities. Their part in providing for us a good education is no small one.

"Work First," Principal's Motto

MR. HOMER M. JESSEE, Principal
MISS CHARLOTTE CORSBIE, Office Clerk

We may carve from marble a beautiful figure; in time it will perish; we may work in brass; time will efface that; we may rear beautiful temples; in time they will crumble into dust. But if we work on our immortal minds—if we imbue them with lofty principles, we engrave tablets which no time can dim but which brighten to all eternity. An ennobling character lives throughout all time.

MARGARET BARTHOLOMEW—Home Economics; DePauw University; Valparaiso University; University of Chicago; Columbia University. Diminutive and good natured, she teaches girls to turn out tasty and tempting tid-bits.

JOSEPH B. BROWN — Industrial Arts; Indiana State Teachers' College, A. B.; Graduate work, Illinois University; University of Chicago, A. M. Teaches tumbler how to tumble and supplies us with cheer leaders. His mechanical drawing classes win state honors.

BURTON L. CONKLING—English, Public Speaking, Dramatic Art; State University of Iowa, A. B.; Winona College; Manchester College. His basso-profundo voice may be heard almost any day coaching future actors. When he doesn't like the way they do it, he shows them how—and how!

EMMA R. FOOR—English, Journalism; Earlham College, A. B.; Graduate work, University of Chicago; University of Minnesota. Small but mighty, she keeps the Valpost and Valenian going. Has a bay window, or rather, her room has.

ELSIE HARRISON — Physical Education; Ball State Teachers' College, B. S. One of the few women who know how to throw a ball straight. Teaches graceful movement to music every Wednesday night.

DESSA MAE HUDSON—Commercial; Valparaiso University, B. C. S.; University of Chicago, Ph.B. Under her forceful tutelage, students learn how they may startle the world of business by their skill.

JAMES C. JENKINS—Vocational Co-ordinator; De Pauw University; Indiana University; Indiana State Teachers' College. New to Valparaiso and in a new field. Turns out young machine shop apprentices.

WILLIAM R. KENDALL — Science, History, Health Education; Butler University; Indiana State Teachers' College, B. S.; Graduate work, Indiana University. Proud papa. Does his best to keep his snakes, frogs, and rats in the biology room. Sometimes he succeeds.

JOHN KOCH—German; Indiana State Teachers' College, A. B.; University of Michigan, A. M. Teaches people to decline verbs—German ones. Maintains interest in German Club—Sehr gut!

Clare McGillicuddy
Mary S. Myers

Helen Miller
Claude O. Pauley

CLARE MCGILICUDDY—Mathematics; Valparaiso University, A. B.; University of Chicago; Columbia University. "Takes six times two plus three divided by five, square it subtract one what's your answer?" 'Nuff Said!

MARY STEVENS MYERS — Music; Indiana State Teachers' College, B. S.; Metropolitan Conservatory of Music; Columbia University; Chicago Conservatory of Music. Directs girls' "do, re, mi, fa's" when she isn't leading the double quartet or the a cappella choir.

HELEN MILLER—Mathematics; Indiana State Teachers' College, A. B. A study hall fiend, she believes that the library was made to study in. (We know she's wrong.)

CLAUDE O. PAULEY—Physics, Chemistry, Mathematics; Indiana State Teachers' College; Indiana University; University of Chicago, B. S. Sees to it that the chemistry students don't asphyxiate the whole school. Sponsors the thirty some boys and one girl in the Sciencium Club and helps Miss Welyt perambulate the senior class.

Faculty of Valparaiso High School

LEATHE C. PONADER — Art: Ball State Teachers' College, B. S.; Art Institute of Chicago; Booth Bay Harbor Studios. Has an artistic temperament. Tries to impart her ability to budding Michael Angelos. If she doesn't succeed, it's not her fault.

RALPH POWELL — History, Physical Education: Hanover College, A. B.; Franklin College; University of Iowa; Indiana University, M. S. Manages to squeeze in a little ancient history between basketball and track.

FRANK G. REID — Social Science: Indiana University; Purdue University; Valparaiso University. B. Sc. in Ed.; Graduate work, Butler University. Keeps an alarm clock on his desk to stop himself from talking too much. Likes all forms of exercise, especially walking.

HAROLD ROGERS — Music: Illinois Wesleyan, B. M. E.; Syracuse University, graduate work. Wiggles a wooden stick and lo! the music comes out of the band, orchestra, and boys' glee club.

RALPH E. SCHENCK — Commercial, History: State Teachers' College, A. B.; Valparaiso University, B. Acct.; University of Chicago, M. A. Efficiently organized to the nth degree. Tells us about how the bayonet carried him around over in France.

AUDREY SHAUER — English, History: Valparaiso University, A. B. Far from ancient herself, she dispenses ancient history with a smile. Also looks after the daily good deeds of the junior Girl Reserves.

VERA L. SIEB — English: University of Wisconsin, A. B.; Valparaiso University; University of Chicago; University of California; Columbia University. A personal friend of Noah Webster's, she teaches pupils not to say "have went." Also suppresses the junior class with a firm hand.

DOROTHY SMITH — School Nurse: Methodist Episcopal Hospital of Indianapolis; George Peabody Teachers' College; Iowa University; Indiana University. Not a doctor, only a nurse (self diagnosis), she checks up on our general health and chases away germs.

MARY EDNA STONER — Latin, English: Valparaiso University; University of Chicago, A. B.; University of Chicago, M. A. Red-headed and cheerful, she has returned to her alma mater as a teacher. Looks after the hiccoughs of the Latin Club.

EDITH WEEMS — Home Economics: Valparaiso University, B. S.; University of Chicago; Ball State Teachers' College. Keeps track of the school's money. Teaches girls to sew on buttons. Has the nose of a bloodhound, can smell chewing gum a mile off.

OLIE W. WELTY — Latin: Valparaiso University; University of Chicago. Softhearted, she pretends to be stern, but non est. Helps Latin students get Caesar out of Gaul. Has a half dozen sets of money to count every noon.

JOHN E. WIGGINS — Athletics, Commercial: Ball State Teachers' College, B. S.; Indiana University, graduate work. Knows his stuff when it comes to football, and manages to get it across to the team. When he isn't showing boys how to perform gymnastics, he's teaching pupils finger gymnastics—on the typewriter.

Camera Snaps Teachers, Pupils

Off and on during the year, the candid camera addict caught a few snaps of classes in session (mostly when the teachers weren't looking.) Here are the results. They are representative and typical of scenes that take place every day.

First we see Mr. Pauley and one of his chemistry classes mixing evil smelling concoctions in glass test tubes. Chemistry is a favorite among the science subjects, which also include physics and biology, as the absorbed looks on the faces of the students testify. Mr. Pau'ey, one of the rulers of the upper hall, also teaches physics, algebra, and trigonometry. (He fires the gun at the basketball games.)

Here, in their machine shop at the junior high school, with the co-operation of the school and local industrialists, boys learn trades first hand. The course, new this year, is steadily growing in facilities and popularity. A dozen boys came out for it the first semester. Under the training of their instructor, Mr. Jenkins, they decide what trade they like and then become adept at it.

Under the strict and critical observation of their fellow classmates, nine girls demonstrate their skill at executing a forward roll. Standing on their heads and turning flip-flops or flop-flips is all in the day's work—or fun—for this gym class. Besides tumbling, basketball, baseball, track, and Miss Harrison, the instructor, new this year, are some of the excellent sports that make girls' gym interesting.

While their teacher, Miss Helen Miller, looks on smiling, a class in general math—or is it algebra (?)—listens with strict attention to their classmate's explanation of the problem on the board—if x plus y equals z , what does a minus b equal (?)—(take algebra if you want to know the answer.) Geometry and trigonometry are the more advanced courses offered to students who are mathematically minded.

Girls toss, twist, and turn while tumbling.

Back at Junior High—in the machine shop.

Class watches Byron, Miss Miller watches class.

Workshops, Classes Ever Busy

In this picture the boy in the foreground is carefully and nicely turning out a table leg on his lathe in woodworking class. In this popular class, every year boys fashion useful articles from wood—checkerboards and end tables, sewing boxes and bookcases, knickknacks and pieces of real furniture—which line our halls each spring at exhibit time and then are carried away to grace the craftsmen's homes. Mr. Joseph Brown, the boys' teacher, is conspicuous by his absence in this picture, but we see him just below, surrounded by one of his mechanical drawing classes. These future architects and draftsmen, boys whose talents in design and drawing run to mechanical art rather than the regular art course, make plans and drawings which yearly win them red, blue, and white ribbons or certificates at the state contest at Lafayette.

These departments are sacred to boys, but the girls have retaliation in their well-equipped home economics—cooking and sewing—laboratories. The sewing laboratory is pictured in the upper right hand corner. Miss Edith Weems and her class in home nursing take great pride in the fact that their baby (it's rubberized) is well clothed. Here we see them busily engaged in stitching its trousseau—or do you call it a layette (?)—(Later the clothing goes to real needful babies.) Miss Weems also guides the industrious fingers of freshmen girls learning how to sew, when she isn't out campaigning against her pet peeve—chewing gum.

And here, last of all, is a class in Deutsch, watching their friend at the board. She is about to decline a verb—in German, of course—and seems somewhat at a loss as how to begin. Perhaps her teacher, Mr. John M. Koch, will give her a hint if she gets stuck. German and Latin, offering three and four year courses respectively, comprise the foreign language element of our school. Let's see if we know any—oh, yes—ave atque vale and auf wiedersehen, of course!

Tables and rolling pins in the making.

V. H. S. trains future home makers.

Juniors Nearer "Caps, Gowns"

The juniors, leaving the sophomore class behind, organized their class under sponsorship of Miss Vera L. Sieb. They elected Curtis Dye president, and Ruth Wark secretary. The class is composed of 141 students, and they have charge of the annual Junior-Senior Prom, a formal dance, the largest social function of the school year which is led by the junior president. The juniors also contributed their share of students to the school in the way of music, athletics, and art.

The editor-in-chief and business manager of the Valenian are elected during their junior year, these being Marjorie Warner, business manager, and David Williams, editor-in-chief.

Some of those students who were outstanding in the various activities of the school were: Robert Rhoda, Harold Henson, Charles Skinner, John Stoner, and Guy Wellman in athletics; Warren Lutz, who held the office of vice-president of the Hi-Y during the year; Douglas Moe, who was active in the Hi-Y and band work; Margaret French, also active in band work; Patricia Pool, a high scorer in honor roll points; Roy Harlow, and Harriet Rex in music; and Marian Helmick, active in Home Economics Club.

Sophomores Seek Upper Class

The sophomore class is unorganized, but is one of the largest classes in the school. It is composed of 133 students. There is no sponsor, and there are no class functions. They made the way somewhat easier for the freshmen, getting them started in school, and acquainting them with the rules and regulations. They also reduced the problems with which freshmen and new students are always confronted. Many of the sophomores made the honor roll and some received scholarships.

They contributed members to almost every phase of school life. In the scholastic field are Dorothy Ragsdale, Nancy Whipple, Molly McGill, and Robert Weiss; in the music field, Gladys Makovsky was outstanding in glee club and operetta work, and Gladys Basinger and Alice Davis in band work. Those contributing their share in the athletic field were: Charles Clifford, Robert Smith, Lawrence Dahl, and Robert Gold.

Seniors Edit Book

Typing, taking pictures, writing, and proofreading are only a few of the duties performed by the Valenian staff.

The staff is elected by the senior class. All members except the editor-in-chief and business manager are elected in their senior year. These two are elected during the junior year, in order to serve as apprentices under the preceding staff.

The nine members work a period or more a day under the direction of Mrs. Emma R. Foor, the journalism adviser, to plan and edit the Valenian.

Each fall, the staff faces the task of selecting a suitable theme for the book. After this is decided, the arrangement, style, and art work must be worked out. The covers offered by various competing companies are checked and compared carefully as to beauty, durability, and to decide if it pertains to the general theme of the book.

Proofreading and consultations with the printer aid in presenting the book in a pleasing manner and correct literary style.

Valpost Staff Finds All, Prints All

There are two Valpost staffs provided by the journalism classes, a fall and a mid-year class. The beginning class studies the theory of journalism and obtains experience by writing stories, proofreading, and composing headlines.

The advanced class devotes its efforts to publishing sixteen issues of the Valpost, one every two weeks, and it endeavors to put out at least five six page issues.

The work includes selling advertisements to local merchants, proofreading, counting, and distributing papers. The paper is financed by these advertisements and subscriptions.

The staff is supervised and managed by the journalism instructor, Mrs. Emma R. Foor.

The staff members are given definite news assignments and write-ups, and the beginning class and student body aid by making contributions.

The writing, compiling, proofreading, and publishing of the Valpost give the students invaluable training in the journalistic field, and help some to find the career they desire.

The papers are entered in national and international contests and are consistently awarded first class rating.

News snooping, writing, proofing, printing, publishing, all have their part in the successful completion of the finished product—The Valpost.

Business-Commerce Merge

Those students who are interested in commercial work are drawn to the Commercial Club. Business-like meetings are held and members learn much about positions and life in the business world. During the year, various outside speakers help in this work. Last semester Mr. Allanson, a prominent business man, addressed the group. Faculty members and students also aided at the regular meetings. Major social events of the year are the Christmas party and spring banquet. Miss Hudson is the sponsor of the Commercial Club.

Home Makers Club Active

Under the supervision of Miss Bartholomew and Miss Weems, the large group of girls interested in home economics work receive their training. The club is a member of the state and national society. There are forty-five girls in this club.

The girls are requested to complete a project during the year. Each may choose her own project and it must pertain to some phase of home economics work.

Two prominent members of the Home Economics Club are sent to represent the club at the Indianapolis Home Economics convention.

Club Studies, Talks German

Valparaiso High School has two foreign language clubs. Of these, the German Club is the older. Its members are required to speak as much German as possible, the club's aim being to help the German students put their German knowledge to as much practical use as possible.

During the year, the lives of German musicians and authors are studied and plays are written by the members. Mr. Koch is the sponsor of the German Club.

Latin Club Newly Formed

This club, the youngest in the high school, is just newly organized under the sponsorship of Miss Stoner. It is composed of thirty members interested in the intriguing stories of ancient Rome.

The club had several projects during the year, one of them being the publication of the Latin newspaper. This work was done by the members of the club who were requested to write poems and letters in Latin.

Boys Collect Rare Stamps

This club, sponsored by Mr. Reid, studies and collects stamps. It is composed of twenty members all of whom are boys. It is a comparatively new club, having been organized in 1933 by Mr. Jessee upon the suggestion of the Senior Stamp Club of Valparaiso. It is the aim of the club to interest V. H. S. students in the fascinating study of stamps. Mr. Richard Lamprecht spoke to the club members, giving advice to the beginning stamp collectors.

Sciensus Seeks New Fields

This club, composed of students who are interested in the modern advances of science, is sponsored by Mr. Pauley.

This organization is affiliated with the Junior Academy of Science. Three new branches of this club were formed during the year, one a camera group, another an airplane group, and the third a radio group. During the year, projects are made by members and the best of these are sent to be judged in the state contest.

All in a day's work in dramatics.

Masqueraders Apply Paint

The members of the dramatics class compose the Footlight Masqueraders, a club sponsored by Mr. Conkling. During the school year, many plays are presented to the student body. Make-up is studied and each student is required to transform a classmate into any age person. Projects such as constructing stages and working out the lives of well-known actors and actresses are one of the requirements of the club.

Much time and effort is spent in memorizing parts and in practicing in order that the plays may be successful. Oftentimes practices begin at seven A. M. and last until eight-thirty. Each person does his best to interpret the part he is to portray. The student body looks forward to the presentation of a play by the Footlight Masqueraders.

The plays given this year before the Wednesday morning assemblies were: The Door-Mat, The Neighbors, A Sign unto You, Elmer, The Ghost Story, and The Women Folks.

Hi-Y Serves School, Pupils

The Hi-Y, a high school service club, is an outgrowth of the Young Men's Christian Association. Its ideals are carried out and preserved by the members of the Hi-Y who prescribe to them cheerfully. The club was formed ten years ago. The sponsor of the club, Mr. Ralph E. Schenck, serves as adviser to the board and members. The board meets with him weekly to discuss problems brought up by them.

This club is very active in the school. Among those activities which aid in serving others are: the courtesy campaign, the sale of schedule pencils, the second-hand book store, the checkroom at basketball games, and the ushering of students at gymnasium convocations.

Several activities in which Hi-Y boys participate for self-improvement and tentertainment are: the annual Father-and-Son Banquet, attendance at Hi-Y conferences, attendance at various churches in a body.

The membership of the club is limited to thirty-five. Only those boys selected by the members and approved by the board may participate in the formal induction ceremony which permits them to wear Hi-Y sweaters and pins. New members must go through a special period of training before being formally inducted.

This club elects its officers yearly, and the president appoints the sergeant-at-arms. Boys value an affiliation with the Hi-Y as not everyone can become a member and those who do represent young men really interested in the code of the Hi-Y.

Senior Service Group Active

The Senior Girl Reserves, like the other groups, have their own officers and club meetings. At different times during the year, outside speakers are secured to address the groups on topics of interest. No restriction is made on membership. All that is asked is that the girls uphold the standards of the club. This year, the local Girl Reserves helped to start a Girl Reserve organization in the Wheeler High School. The sponsor of the Senior Girl Reserves is Miss Miller.

Miss Shaver Heads Jr. Group

The girls' service club of Valparaiso High School is the Girl Reserves. This organization is divided into three sections, one of which is the Junior Girl Reserves. This group, under the sponsorship of Miss Shauer, has its own officers and club meetings. In the entire Girl Reserve organization, the point system is used. To entitle one to a sweater a girl must have been a member of the Girl Reserves for a least two years and must have earned at least one hundred points. Points are earned in various ways such as attending church, visiting sick people, and work on programs.

Youngest Group is Largest

By far the largest group of Girl Reserves is the freshman-sophomore group. Obtaining members from the freshman and sophomore classes of the high school, these girls perform their share of Girl Reserve work.

Usually, the girls themselves take part in the programs, but occasionally outside speakers are invited to address the group.

Some of the activities in which the Freshman-Sophomore Girl Reserves take part are: filling of Christmas baskets to be given to the needy, ushering at various school functions, and especially the sale of Christmas seals in the down-town district and in the school.

Considering the size of this combined group, and of the other two groups, they work wonderfully together. At the May breakfast, given annually in the high school library, the Freshman-Sophomore Girl Reserves have charge of part of the preparation and the clean-up duties afterwards.

The girls may earn points in various ways, among them being active service in the church, Sunday school, and young people's organizations.

The sponsor of the club is Miss McGillicuddy. Occasionally joint meetings of all the Girl Reserves are held and each group furnishes a part of the program. This club is helpful to girls in high school as it enables them to carry out the points in the Girl Reserve code among which are sincerity, dependability, loyalty, and many other characteristics so necessary for a high school girl to cultivate. These points help her immensely when she is out of school. People remember such characteristics in fellow beings long after they may have forgotten faces and it is toward the acquiring of these characteristics that a true Girl Reserve is forever striving, never losing sight of her goal.

Glee Clubs Train and Sing

Valparaiso High School has two glee clubs, the boys' and the girls'. The Girls' Glee Club is under the direction of Mrs. Mary Myers, and the Boys' Glee Club is under the direction of Harold L. Rogers. The Girls' Glee Club has much the larger membership.

It was decided this year to give the Gilbert and Sullivan operetta, "Iolanthe". These groups worked hard on the operetta. They had confidence in their ability and did their best to make "Iolanthe" a success. Last year, the operetta was omitted from the school program for the first time in many years.

During the year, the glee clubs perform before the student body at regular convocations. Credit is given for glee club work. The girls' club practices on Tuesday and Friday, and the boys' on Monday and Friday. The practices of the girls' begin at eight fifteen and end at nine o'clock. The boys practice the eighth period of the day.

Tryouts for placement are given the first of the year and no boy or girl really interested in music who can carry a tune is denied entrance into the glee clubs. The Girls' Glee Club has a membership of eighty, while the Boys' Glee Club numbers twenty.

Boys, Girls Play for School

Under the leadership of Harold L. Rogers, the V. H. S. Band played at football and basketball games during the school year. They also entertained the student body at Wednesday morning convocations. The band and orchestra had regular meetings, the band met on Friday morning and at different periods during the day, and the orchestra on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday mornings, the fourth period. One-fifth of a credit a semester was given at the regular grading period by the director.

Mr. Rogers worked hard with both groups to advance them. He built the band to a large organization. Classical numbers and modern selections were included in their appearances to make them enjoyable. The orchestra furnished music for the operetta and for commencement activities.

There are seventy-five members in the band, and twenty in the orchestra. The band did not enter any contests this year, although it has enjoyed victory in past contests, including national rating in 1933.

Choir Sings Before Groups

The A Capella Choir, an organization of twenty boys and girls under the direction of Mrs. Mary L. Myers, met three times a week, the fourth period on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday. Of the four types of voices, the sopranos were much the largest in number, the altos next, the basses, and finally the tenors of which there were but two. The choir sang at various P.-T. A. and teachers' meetings held at the high school and in the grade schools.

The upper picture shows the Girls' Glee Club, directed by Mrs. Mary Myles, singing in the Methodist Church during National Music Week. This appearance took the place of the usual operetta.

The bottom picture is of the double quartet, an organization which was active the first semester but the second semester gave way to the choir.

Tumblers Go Into Action

Under the supervision of Mr. J. B. Brown, the Tumbling Club was organized in 1931 for the purpose of enabling those boys not proficient enough to make varsity teams to take part in some form of athletics. The club has enjoyed success since its beginning in providing entertainment for clubs and other organizations of Valparaiso. This year the club visited other cities and performed between halves of basket-ball games.

Athletic Club to Aid Sports

When the Athletic Club was first organized, its membership was not restricted. Any boy interested in athletics could join. Later, it was decided to cut down the membership of the club to those boys out for certain sports; that is, during the football season, Mr. Wiggins called together and instructed those boys who were out for football, and during the basketball season, Mr. Powell called a meeting of the basketball boys. The club met on an average of once a week, discussing various rules and plays pertaining to the sport.

May Festival

The May Festival has become a tradition in the Valparaiso High School. Each year, this spectacular show is presented. Mrs. Harold Rogers, with the aid of the high school and grade teachers, produced this festival which drew a huge crowd to the Boucher Gymnasium. The theme Mrs. Rogers tried to show was "Retgression in Rhythm". All types of dances showing skill and grace were given, including "The All American Girl", "American Sports Revue", "American Country Dances", "Patriotic Revue", "Gay Nineties", "Colonial Tea Party", and other waltzes and negro dances.

Much time and effort was spent in making the Festival a success. Elaborate settings and costumes added to the beauty of the occasion.

The children of the fourth, fifth, and sixth grades, junior and senior high school participated in the festival. Above are some of the scenes and settings that were included in the festival that provided a delightful evening of entertainment for the audience.

Coaches Get Results

One of the widely known coaches of the state, Ralph Powell, has played a major part in the athletic activities of the school in addition to being a history teacher and head of the physical education classes. A hard driver and worker, he has instilled these qualities into his basket-ball teams, which always rank near the top, and his track squads are rapidly improving each year.

John E. Wiggins

The moment that John E. Wiggins came to this school two years ago, his cheerful grin and irrepressible jollity immediately made him one of the gang and there he has remained. Rotund mentor of the gridiron and number one man on the diamond, his sincere and patient efforts have brought football and baseball to the fore as major sports.

Sports of Year

Starting before school begins in September, and closing in the late spring, various athletic activities capture the spotlight. As gridiron enthusiasts clamor for more blood, their pet sport gives way to groups of hardwood hotshots, who reign supreme until March. Baseball and track then take over with the crack of bats and starters' guns, along with the swish of drivers and brassies as the fairway squad limbers up. Intermingled with these sports are the tumbling team, which entertains large crowds with its meets and exhibitions, the noonday league and the night league for non-team boys.

Grid Team Wins Six Games

The Valparaiso High School football teams, coached by Mr. Wiggins, ran through the smoothest schedule in years.

Out of the possible nine wins, Valpo won six, tied one, and lost two. The team also was helped by the two assistant coaches, Ralph Powell and William Kendall.

Three varsity men returned to the squad this year, Ernest Thorgren at quarterback, William Windle fullback, and John Dodd right tackle. Those filling the new positions were: Jack Nicksch and Steve Kriston at guards, Lee Soltz tackle, Roland Sheets and Dale Gott at end, Bob Rhoda and Harold Henson at halfback, and Verne McCann at center.

After days of getting into shape, tackling, blocking, passing the pigskin, and transforming last summer's loose fat into hard muscle, the Vikings started their nine game schedule on their new field.

Outstanding Facts of Games

The first game was a forecast of the season when the Vikings trounced Crown Point 19-0 on September 11. The next two games with Rensselaer and Plymouth, both played at Valpo, were decisive victories for the Vikings. The first out of town game was played at Warsaw. Coming behind from a 12-0 margin at the half, favoring Warsaw, the Viking offense blasted its way through the opposition for four touchdowns; Rhoda and Windle scoring for Valpo, Ferguson for Warsaw; the Vikings ringing up a 24-12 victory. The only tie of the year came at Gary's Gleason Field, as Valpo was unable to pierce Tolleston's stubborn defense; the tussle resulting in a 0-0 outcome. The first defeat for the Green and White was the result of a trip to LaPorte; the Slicers piling up a lead of 19-0 in the first half by use of laterals. The Vikings came back strong in the second half for twelve points but there the score remained, at 19-12. The next game was a close 13-6 victory over the Brickies at Hobart in a strong wind which tended to put a premium on touchdowns. The second defeat came in a flood-lighted battle at Hammond against the Blue and White of George Rogers Clark. Stopping the powerful drive of Clark in the first half, the Vikings trooped into the dressing-room at the half on even terms with Clark, the half score standing at 6-6. In the second half, however, the Green and White were unable to stop Clark, who eventually won 25-6. The battle of the century, as far as Valpo was concerned, then made its appearance as Lowell came north to Valpo to defend its three-year winning streak. Determined from the outset to put a hole in that record, the Vikings pushed over a touchdown on a man-in-motion pass, Rhoda to Henson, in the second quarter. Not satisfied with that, Valpo shoved over a second touchdown in the second half on a plunge by Windle, to climax one of the most brilliant seasons at Valpo.

Seconds Play Three Games

The baby Vikings started their three-game schedule with Plymouth at Boucher Field on September 25. The outcome of this tussle was a repetition of last year's game, the final score being 0-0. Valpo had its chance to ring up a different score in the second quarter when the Viking's safety-man took a Plymouth punt back to the visitor's 37 yard line. With Eades and Roy Maudlin cracking through the line for a first down on the opponent's 26 yard line, the outlook was quite cheerful when Maudlin completed a fourth-down pass to Charles Suesse for another first down on the Plymouth 11 yard line. The touch-down drive failed, however, when Suesse and Runnion both caught a pass behind the goal line. The pass was ruled incomplete because of two receivers.

The next game saw the team traveling to Michigan City to subdue the baby Red Devils to the tune of 24-6. With Maudlin and Smith running behind brilliant interference for the four touchdowns, the junior Vikings' display of power showed their added improvement in ball carrying, passing, blocking, and in many other features.

The last game scheduled, at LaPorte, resulted in an eventful defeat for the Green and White, the final count standing at 6-0, favoring the Slicers. All in all, the game was an exhibition of smart football, the fatal error coming in the fourth quarter when LaPorte recovered a Valpo fumble behind the latter's goal line.

This second squad was coached by Mr. William Kendall, who prepared these many reserves for the varsity team. Hard practice, consistent training, and learning the essential fundamentals of the game was the code of Coach Kendall. Absorption of all this by the boys not yet ready for the first squad will soon help them find a berth on the varsity.

The usual lineup was as follows: James Runnion and Charles Bogan, ends; Harold Masterson and Lloyd Pinkerton, tackles; Robert Labrecque and Robert White, guards; with Robert Gold at center. The backfield consisted of Roy Maudlin, quarterback; Robert Smith and Charles Eades, halfbacks; and Harvey Varner, fullback.

As the boys of this team improve, they will be transferred to the varsity squad where their previous experience will stand them in good stead.

The team next year plans to compete in six games, to provide a more enlarged background of experience.

With the close of the basketball season, it is only natural to look forward as well as backward. The varsity team will lose only three men, Windle, Maudlin, and St. Clair. With Rhoda, Dahl, Skinner, Stoner, Henson, Wellman, and Awkerman as leaders, we see success for the future. Individual scoring honors went to Harold Henson, who gathered 192 points, and Charles Skinner, runner-up with 182 points.

Fast Breaking Shuffle

Vikings Win Ten Games

The Viking basketball team, coached by Ralph Powell, ended its twenty game schedule this year with an even .500 average.

The first game played this season was with Brook on November 19 in which the Viking cagers netted a victory of 29-18. The next three games with Crown Point, Washington E. C., and Froebel also were victories for Valpo.

Horace Mann came along and submerged Valpo by one point, 29-28. The same was repeated when the Vikings traveled to Washington, East Chicago and lost, 30-29. Roosevelt of East Chicago, next in line, stepped up and dealt a 29-25 defeat to the Vikings. The game with Hammond proved a great test for the Vikings. Valpo overpowered the Wildcats in a 29-21 upset.

The Whiting Oilers then defeated the Vikings 33-24; however they bounced back with a slim victory of 27 to 26 over LaPorte.

In the following three games, Emerson, Hammond, and Horace Mann, Valpo was the loser to all three. The Vikings next encountered Hammond Tech, Roosevelt E. C., and Froebel, downing them in that order, 33-31; 38-29; and 46-35.

However, Whiting and LaPorte proved too tough for Valpo, and they lost the pair, 45-37 and 31-17, respectively. The last conference game found Valpo trailing Lew Wallace by a score of 39-37.

Jrs. Win Eight

The Junior Vikings' basketball team ended its twenty game schedule having won eight games, lost eleven, and tied one. Although this looks like a rather unsuccessful season, a closer observation shows that the freshman-sophomore combination totaled 361 points to their opponents' 377 and were outmargined by only sixteen points. Those who played most of the games were Raymond Phillips, Walter Molinder, Roy Maudlin, Charles Clifford, and Gene Hart.

H. S. Nine Wins Six Games

Out of the possible ten wins the Valparaiso High School baseball team, coached by Mr. Wiggins, won six and lost four. The first game of the schedule was played at Kouts in which Valpo scored a victory of 19-0. The next out of town game was with Morgan, also a victory for Valpo 8-1. The first home game was with Washington of East Chicago, Valpo winning 8-7. Griffith and Boone Grove were the next victims of 4-0 and 8-1 respectively. The next three games with LaPorte, Roosevelt, and Washington, played on foreign lands were defeats for the Valpo team. Valpo then won from LaPorte and lost the last game to Roosevelt here 8-3.

The nine boys that made up the team were: Guy Wellman, catcher; Kenneth Rhoda, pitcher; Ray Marrell, first base; Harold Henson, second base; Carroll Sheets, shortstop; Bob Rhoda, third base; Charles Smith, left field; Robert Wulff, center field; and James Daly, right field. These nine players with the addition of Clifford Landgrebe and Wallace Wilson received monograms.

Boys Enter Meets

Enthusiasm was so evident among the boys on the track team that they participated in many events.

Coach Powell, together with his cinder squad, traveled to Hobart, Chesterton, North Judson, Michigan City, and Gary. The only member of the team that qualified for the state meet, held at Indianapolis, was Campbell Kane.

The boys that composed the team were Bob Kitchen, Dwight Arndt, Campbell Kane, Roger Henry, James Horney, John Dodd, Chester Phillips, Russell Glover, James Zimmerman, Verne McCann, Edmund Sawyer, John Moench, Jack Niksch, and Harry Klein. There are only four members that will return next year, Jack Niksch, Harry Klein, John Moench, and Verne McCann.

Now that the Valparaiso High School has its own track field, there will be home meets.

Golf for V. H. S.

Along with baseball and track came golf, which seemed to be successful. The boys traveled out to the Valparaiso Country Club every night from four till dark for practice. This year Mr. Kendall coached his boys to take the Northwestern Indiana High School Conference.

The team was composed of Adolph Jankowski, James Mahoney, Robert Beach, and Robert Stoner, each man playing number 1, 2, 3, 4 respectively. William Dougall relieved number 3 and 4 man. Besides playing their scheduled games, in which they came out on top, winning 6, tying 1, and losing 2, Valpo also participated in the tournament at LaPorte May 15, and the tournament at Indianapolis on May 21.

Noonday Offers Three Sports

Every year, about seventy-five boys participate in the sports offered them through Noonday League, supervised by Ralph Powell, coach.

Captains are selected, who in turn choose their players. The first game that is participated in is touch-football which lasts until outdoor sports are discontinued. The next sport is basketball which extends during the regular basketball season until sometime in March. Softball then is played in the gym until weather permits the boys to go outside, at which time they may choose either softball or football.

The most popular sport played is basketball. Eight captains are chosen to select teams. The season's schedule is divided into two rounds, during each of which the teams play each other once. Then a short tournament is played.

Elsie Harrison Heads Gym Classes, G. A. A.

ELSIE HARRISON

Miss Elsie Harrison, one of the newest teachers in the entire city school system, has taken over the Physical Education department like a veteran. She has won the praise and respect of the faculty members and student body for her remarkable ability and leadership.

Through her efforts and under her direction came the success of the annual May Festival program put on by the Physical Education department with the cooperation of the city schools.

BERNEICE BROWN
Best Girl Athlete of 1937

Senior Wins Cup

Each year since 1931 the outstanding senior girl athlete, selected by the non-senior members of the Girls' Athletic Association Board, is presented with a silver loving cup which has her name engraved upon it. This cup is the property of the school, where it remains, but the honored girl is given a silver bar pin with the G. A. A. monogram engraved upon it as her personal reward.

Those six previously distinguished, Mary Frances Powell, Genevieve Smith, Elizabeth Arnold, Mildred Shideler, Margaret Crisman, and Ann Maulsby, have proved themselves through the ensuing years worthy of this honor by becoming leaders in community, business, homes, or in whatever other stations in life they have chosen.

Last year Berneice Brown, the 1936-37 G. A. A. president, was the girl selected for this honor. This choice could not have been challenged as she proved herself outstanding in ability, sportsmanship, and leadership throughout her four years in high school.

G. A. A. Board Heads Activities

The Valparaiso High School, as well as the Girls' Athletic Association, is proud of those girls comprising the G. A. A. board, for they stand for the high ideals of the school—sportsmanship, scholarship, and athletic ability.

The officers of the organization are elected by the G. A. A. members while the remaining girls on the board are appointed to their positions by a committee consisting of the new officers, the previous board members, and the sponsor.

Each board member is given a certain sport or duty for which she is responsible. The G. A. A. board holds special meetings throughout the year to discuss and decide certain points and problems which are then brought up to the members for approval and official sanction.

While the board has its own special party, the largest social event of the organization for all members is the basketball banquet at which numerals, monograms, and chevrons are awarded for various numbers of points earned by G. A. A. participation throughout the year.

A picnic climaxing the soccer season, a beach party near the close of school, and play days at different intervals during the year where different Girls' Athletic Association organizations of the county and state meet for the purpose of exchanging ideas and companionship rather than for competition, complete the social activities.

G. A. A. Offers Many Activities

With the reputation of being one of the largest and most active clubs in the high school, it requires the combined efforts of the 152 Girls' Athletic Association members to keep the G. A. A. standards high.

Of the 152 members, 34 are seniors, 45 juniors, and 73 freshmen and sophomores either active or associate in their membership. An active girl is one who enjoys active participation in G. A. A. sports while an associate member is one who is limited to a mild form of exercise and enjoys the G. A. A. social functions.

G. A. A. offers a wide variety of activities with soccer, volleyball, basketball, and baseball being the four major sports. Archery, tumbling, track, tennis, miscellaneous which includes ice skating, roller skating, swimming, and bicycling, and girls' noonday league, while classed as minor activities, have very large memberships as sports emphasizing individual skills are becoming more popular each year as shown by the increasing number of girls signing up for these activities.

As rewards for increasing skill by practice and participation, G. A. A. offers numerals, monograms, sweaters, and chevrons each indicating an advancement in ability. These honor awards are presented to the girls either at the basketball banquet or at Award Day at the close of school.

Belaschky Heads Noon Sports

For girls who cannot stay for G. A. A. after-school activities, a noonday league was organized to offer them suitable recreation during the noon hour.

The program planned by G. A. A.'s noonday league chairman, Blanche Belaschky, consisted of activities both in and out of doors. The winter sports, ping-pong and shuffleboard, were played in the gym, while during the late fall, and early spring, when weather conditions permitted, horseshoes, health ball, and badminton were enjoyed outside.

After Marjorie Warner and Mary Muster were crowned champs of health-ball and horseshoe, ping-pong aroused the interest of girls who played in the tournament which was won by Martha Snow with Evelyn Witner runner-up.

At the completion of the first tourney, a doubles tournament with sixteen couples competing was run off with Evelyn Witner and Mary Muster outplaying Martha Snow and Ruby Spencer for the championship.

A unique class ping-pong tourney was played with each class opposing different members of its own class until by elimination a champion was crowned. Then the four class representatives fought it out for the girls' championship.

The spring season was devoted to badminton and bowling with second tournaments in health ball, horseshoe, and ping-pong.

Ninety-nine Out for Soccer

With the coming of fall two events fill the minds of a great many high school girls. The opening of school, and subsequently, the opening of the G. A. A. soccer season.

This year when soccer chairman, Beryl Ann Brownell, blew her whistle to take charge, she found ninety-nine soccer enthusiasts eager to race down the field for a goal.

In order that each girl might have the same opportunity for practice and play, teams from the ninety-nine socceresses were picked. Each team met every other team in the ensuing round-robin tournament. Team 9, captained by Frances Jones, won the championship while the other teams, 1 to 8, captained by Jane Varner, Mariangeneen Helvie, Lucille Christopher, Charlotte Smith, Helen Garrison, Betty Riddle, Iva Mae Berkeley, and Gladys Makovsky were close behind.

Seeing that soccer and snowflakes get in each other's way, the class tournament scheduled to be played off following the round-robin tourney had to be called off until spring when two weeks were given over to class team practice and play.

The captains of the class teams were Virginia Sanz, senior; Nena Winder, junior; Gladys Makovsky, sophomore; and Mary Thiesen, freshman; each hoping that they and their teammates might be victorious in the annual contest.

Likewise, the annual soccer picnic, climaxing the end of the season, had to be postponed until spring.

However, although the weather man made things a bit irregular, the season was a most successful one with spring soccer proving quite a unique but welcome activity.

Seniors Volleyball Champions

Volleyball, with one of the largest numbers of enthusiasts to participate in this sport, began its nine weeks' activity on December fourth with the ninety-two girls being divided into eight teams.

The eight teams, captained by Glaydis Basinger, Virginia Sanz, Iva Mae Berkey, Charlotte Cavell, Jeanne Stincheld, Ann Lowenstine, Kathryn Field, and Martha Joyce Smith, played an elimination tournament, with Team 5 ranking first with a record of eleven wins and three defeats, while Teams 1 and 4 were runners-up, both having won ten games and lost four.

The seniors batted out an impressive 42-11 victory over the sophomores, while the juniors showed their last year's championship skill with a 40-13 win over the freshmen.

The class team finals between the seniors and the juniors proved to be a thriller with the seniors eking out a 28-18 victory after a desperate last quarter rally.

The class teams were composed of the most skilled girls of the group who chose one of their own team members to act in the capacity of captain. Those four elected were Mary Cleveland, senior; Iva Mae Berkey, junior; Gladys Makovsky, sophomore; and Rosemary Clausen, freshman.

The success of the volleyball season was due to the co-operation of all participants and the leadership of G. A. A.'s volleyball chairman, Nena Winder.

Seniors Win Tournament

With but one day intervening, basketball began where volleyball left off, characterized by the same rousing enthusiasm which symbolizes all G. A. A. activities.

G. A. A. basketball chairman, Mariangeneen Helvie, divided the 114 participating girls into "A" and "B" squads according to their skill. A round-robin tournament was played off in both "A" and "B" groups. The "A" championship was not decided until the final game, when Team 4, captained by Lucille Christopher, showed its superiority and won the laurels. The "B" championship went to Team 8 with Mary Frances Bloeman captain.

A "gang" tournament was organized in the "A" group with six teams; R. M. Q.'s, We'uns, Polygons, Starlets, Vikingettes, Suzie Q's, being represented. Although the tourney was started, it was not completed due to the lack of time.

The class teams were chosen, and the seniors met the freshmen and scored an impressive 10 to 2 victory. The sophomores upset the juniors after an overtime battle which, ending in a tie 7-7, was, with the consent of both sides, decided by having three players from each side shoot five free throws and the team making the most was automatically declared the winner. Thus the sophomores were victors by two free throws.

The championship game was as well played, both in respect to skill and sportsmanship, as any game played in the V. H. S. gym, the seniors edging out a 4 to 0 victory over the sophomores.

Four Minor Sports in G. A. A.

G. A. A. offers its enthusiasts a wide variety of minor activities throughout the entire school year. These provide interesting and healthful exercise yet not overly invigorating so that those who are restricted to a mild form of activity may yet know the joy and exhilaration of sports and G. A. A. companionship.

These minor sports are archery, tumbling, baseball, and track, each essentially an individual activity.

Fall archery sessions at four o'clock each Monday and Friday afternoon were under the direction of the G. A. A. archery chairman, Evelyn Witner. In the wind-up tournament of fifty-one contestants, Beryl Ann Brownell was the winner, with Eileen Hurley runner-up.

Tumbling, with Virginia Sanz at its head, was given two weeks for its activity. Of the fifty-one girls who signed up for the sport, ten acquired gymnastic skill sufficient to conquer the frontward and backward rolls, head stand, stomach balance, head and shoulder flip, and apparatus work, and were rewarded by admission to the "A" squad.

Baseball with Marjorie Warner as chairman and Mary Cleveland, heading track, kept the girls busy with tournaments and meets throughout the last nine weeks of school.

Miscellaneous activities, though under no direct supervision, were headed by Lucille Christopher. G. A. A. points are given for hiking, bicycling, ski-ing, swimming, and roller skating, which can be enjoyed during the summer months and after school time.

the 1990s, the number of people in the world who are undernourished has increased from 600 million to 800 million.

There are a number of reasons for this increase. One of the main reasons is the rapid population growth in the developing world.

Another reason is the increasing demand for food and other resources as the world's population grows.

Finally, the increasing demand for food and other resources is also due to the fact that the world's population is becoming more affluent.

As the world's population grows, the demand for food and other resources will continue to increase.

This will put even greater pressure on the world's resources and will lead to even greater food insecurity.

It is therefore essential that we take action to address the problem of food insecurity.

One of the most important ways to do this is to increase the production of food and other resources.

This can be done by investing in agriculture and other food production sectors.

It is also important to ensure that the food and other resources that are produced are distributed fairly.

Finally, it is important to ensure that the world's resources are used sustainably.

Only by taking these steps can we ensure that the world's population has enough food and other resources to live a decent life.
